Citizens of the Lemon Grove School District went to the polls and voted Yes for Children, approving the issues of the special election by a landslide majority on Tuesday. A two-thirds majority approval was necessary before the million and a half dollars from the State became available for the new school building.

Approximately 25% of all registered voters exercised suffrage privileges, an unusually large number for a school election. The total Yes vote on all issues was about 50 to 1.

Superintendent of Schools B. L. Netley announces that plans are being rushed for the completion of the architectural drawings and actual construction of six school projects, which will include Lemon Grove elementary and intermediate schools, the Vista La Mesa School, the Monterey Heights School, the San Miguel School, and the District Administration building.

The sweeping majority gained in Tuesday's election for schools demonstrates that the people of our community feel the great responsibility they have in the building of better schools for a better, more important role for education in America.

School officials wish to thank the three P.T.A. groups from this district who contributed so much to the success of the election, the teachers of all the schools for the good work done, and the hundreds of others throughout the community who assisted the Yes for Children vote. Especially does the school wish to thank the Lemon Grove Review for its fine coverage of the election information. Subscribers to the Review were the best informed voters as to all issues in the school election.

Schools Apply For Federal Aid

Under public law 874, passed by the 81st Congress, the Lemon Grove School District is making preparations to apply for funds. This law states, in part, that the United States recognizes a responsibility for the impact which certain Federal activities have on local educational agencies and will provide financial assistance to school upon which the United States has placed financial burdens, by reason that the schools provide education for children whose parents are employed on Federal property.

In order to obtain this information, the school district shall ask each parent to fill out a card for each child attending the Lemon Grove Schools. Parents will be asked to give the exact location of their place of employment and to state whether it is a military base or located on Federal owned property.

Parents are asked to cooperate in filling out this information completely and immediately upon receiving the questionnaire, since the accuracy of this survey will greatly enhance the possibility of the school district's receiving some much needed financial assistance from the Federal Government.

OLD CARDS NEEDED

Those having old Christmas cards which they do not want to keep are asked to leave them at the library for Mrs. Randolph Morse, who puts them into scrap books for hospitals.

Chamber of Commerce President Makes Annual Report to Members

Following is President Vroman J. Dorman's annual report to the members of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce read at the annual meeting Tuesday evening:

As the year grows to a close, it is with considerable pride that we can review the accomplishments of the Chamber of Commerce of this community. I regret that it is impossible for me to be present at the annual meeting of the membership. However, I wish to express my deepest thanks and appreciation to the officers, directors and members of the various committees and the individual members of the Chamber whose work and efforts have contributed so materially to the success of our program during the year 1950.

Without the unselfish and untiring work of the officers, directors and committee members, little would have been done. The fact that so much has been accomplished is a tribute to those who have wholeheartedly assumed the responsibility of their assignments; the only reward for such service being the satisfaction that a contribution has been made to the progress, development and betterment of the community in which we live.

At the conclusion of the year, it is perhaps well that we should note a few of the things that have been accomplished through the leadership afforded by the Chamber of Commerce.

A Fire Protection District has been organized, a bond election was conducted in conjunction with an authorized election, and in the very near future the Fire Department will be functioning with a fully equipped fire department meeting the requirements of the fire underwriters, providing this community with a much needed service.

The Community Center Council was organized and the recently constructed Community Center Building was placed in operation to serve the needs of the community.

An intensive program of street improvement and a traffic safety program has been accomplished.

May Continue Use of Clay Tile

Property owners from all over San Diego County attended the hearing Monday afternoon in the board room of the County Board of Supervisors, and protested the new ordinance requiring the use of cast iron pipe in sewer lines.

After hearing the property owners, Chamber of Commerce representatives and others who were opposed, and G. C. Zuckewiler, county sanitation chief and representatives of the plumber's association, the Board killed the new ordinance, and left the present ordinance in effect, with a few modifications.

Under the existing ordinance, property owners and builders were permitted to use either clay or cast iron.

Freeman Durgin of the Ramona Chamber of Commerce, Lucy Hillyer, vice-president of the Julian Chamber of Commerce, Timothy Brownhill, retired Ramona publisher, H. H. Carter of the Ramona Farm Bureau Center, Ted Haaf, president of the San Diego County Development Federation, Jackson Ammons, vice president of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce, and Ellis Grover of Fallbrook, all appeared in behalf of the proper owners who would be affected by the new ordinance.

Proponents of the measure argued that the use of cast iron pipe, while opponents contend that there is a shortage of the material as the war situation grew worse.

The Board took prompt action to kill the measure.

New Lutheran Church on Skyline Progressing Toward Completion

Driving out through the south, and east section of Lemon Grove, in the Monterey Heights area, one is delighted to see the steady progress of construction of the new Lutheran Church at the corner of Skyline and Alton.

Last week the beautiful copper-sheathed steeple was hoisted into place, on the top of which is a stainless steel cross.

The cross stands 55 feet above the ground clearly visible from the surrounding territory, even over into the valley on the east.

The congregation longed for a steeple that would point heavenward and bear a cross that would tell the community of the message it seeks to bring to all men. To keep the cost down while the first unit was being constructed, plans for a steeple were left for a later date.

The conflict in Korea came closer home this week when Mr. and Mrs. Robert Curry, 8126 Golden, received word that their son, Robert Curry, Jr., is in the Army Hospital in Osaka, Japan, having been wounded in the northwest front in Korea.

Robert received chest wounds from which his parents have been assured he will recover. And of course they are hoping that Robert can be transferred to a hospital near here before Christmas.

Robert, who is 18, enlisted a year ago, and with his activities in Korea has no doubt had enough experience to last him a life time.

Monterey Heights Civic Meeting

Members of the Monterey Heights Civic Organization who were present at the regular meeting Tuesday night, voted unanimously to continue sponsorship of the Teentimers Club. It was agreed that definite action would have to be taken in the matter of providing playground space, and planned activities for the youth group, as well as soliciting the cooperation and help of the parents of the teenagers.

The following people were appointed to comprise a committee which will direct its efforts to making the Teentimers Club a constructively active group: Ferris White, R. E. Davy, Lt. Col. James Prenz, G. R. Goudt, along with Mrs. Davy, Mrs. Prenz and Mrs. Goudt.

At a meeting of the above-mentioned committee on Wednesday night, Mr. Goudt was made Chairman, and wishes to request that parents of teenagers and others interested in their welfare be on hand next Monday evening at 7:30 when the group meets at the school with the Teentimers.

There was considerable discussion of the safety problem presented by the lack of sidewalks adjacent to the school, and this matter will be taken up after the first of the year.

Letters are being written to the La Mesa, Spring Valley, Lemon Grove Irrigation District and the Department of Public Health, protesting the condition of the water lines and the fact that a sample of water taken from 1907 Skyline and tested by the Health Department, showed evidence of objectionable contamination.

94 Favored as Main Highway to the East

Highway 94, Federal, Broadway, Imperial and Campo Road, and also known as the Lyons Valley Route, has been recommended as the route east in preference to Highway 80.

The new clover leaf now being built just east of Thirtieth street will feed traffic into 94, and make it more accessible to downtown traffic flowing east.

The Master Plan for Major Highways in San Diego County favors the use of 94 over that of 80.

The State Highway Commission had already adopted the improved U. S. 80 as the major highway between San Diego and the Imperial Valley.

"Despite this fact, the weight of evidence suggests that the Lyons Valley route is substantially better for through traffic. That route, accordingly, is recommended."

The report compares the two routes showing a differential in miles saved to Coyote Wells by the use of the Lyons Valley Route at 7.1 miles. It shows the summit elevations as 3680 feet for the Lyons Valley route and 4113 feet for U. S. 80. Adverse grade for Lyons, 5495 feet and 80, 6450 feet.

It shows that the radius of curves favors the U. S. 80 route where 2,000 feet is the radius over Lyons Route where curves are sharper with a 750 foot radius.

Construction costs for the two routes are estimated at $14,522,000 for the Lyons Route and $16,050,352 for the Highway 80 route.

The report states that the Great Southwest Tunnel project cannot be included in Highway development plans at this time, but it no doubt would be the ideal route East when it has been proven feasible. Meanwhile the comparison and recommendation as listed above are set down for future action.

Urges Care in Christmas Mailing

The post office department urges the immediate mailing of Christmas parcels. All mail must be plainly addressed, and include all street, route, box and apartment numbers, to insure prompt delivery.

Greeting cards should be sent as first class mail to obtain the many advantages the service affords. Such cards mailed at the first class rate may be sealed, and contain written messages; they are dispatched first, and forwarded, if necessary, and returnable to the sender if the return address appears on the envelope.

Unsealed Christmas cards require 2 cents postage and go as third class mail.

Packages should be wrapped carefully and tightly, with strong durable containers. Parcels sent by air or as fourth class mail are limited to maximum of 100 inches length and girth combined. The weight limit, both by air and regular mail is 70 lbs.

Seals may be placed on the outside of mail matter during the month of December only, should not be put on the address side.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Political Cycle

POLITICS runs in cycles. And the political cycle a quarter of a century ago has some interesting comparisons with that today. In fact, it's almost similar.

A quarter of a century ago, in the election of 1926, Calvin Coolidge, supposedly supreme in the White House, almost lost control of congress. He retained the senate by exactly the same majority as Harry Truman today—one vote. The house he kept by a margin of 42. Today Truman's margin there is 34. Some interesting figures popped up in that surprise election of 1926. A young man from Maryland named Millard Tydings, son of a Susquehanna river boatman and hitherto unknown, was elected to the senate. A quarter of a century later, Tydings, in another surprise election, bowed out. The man who defeated him, John Marshall Butler, was equally unknown.

Another interesting figure swept into the senate in that 1926 surprise election was a relative newcomer from Kentucky named Alben Barkley. He defeated Republican Sen. Richard P. Ernst, chairman of the privileges and elections committee and considered a sure bet to win.

Another upstart Democrat who surprised the senate in 1926 was Robert Wagner of New York, a German-born boy who rose to sponsor our most important social legislation. Wagner defeated a powerful Republican leader, Sen. James Wadsworth, chairman of the military affairs committee, who had the courage to come back to congress in a reduced rank, as a member of the house, and this year retires from politics. This year also, Sen. Herbert Lehman was elected to fill the full term of the man he succeeded, Bob Wagner.

Also swept into office in that surprise election of 1926 was a young Democrat from Oklahoma, Elmer Thomas. This year Senator Thomas bowed out.

Coolidge Did Not Choose

Another young Democrat who surprised and perturbed President Coolidge was Carl Hayden of Arizona, who defeated Ralph Cameron, a high-ranking Republican on the appropriations committee.

Even the chairman of the Republican national committee, Sen. William H. Butler of Massachusetts, the personal friend of Coolidge, was defeated that year by a young Democrat named David I. Walsh. Butler had been appointed to the senate, following the death of Henry Cabot Lodge. And 20 years later—1946—another Henry Cabot Lodge, grandson of the old senator, defeated Walsh, the man who defeated Butler. So goes the cycle of politics.

Coolidge, like Truman, a former vice-president, had entered the White House in 1923 through death, and—again like Truman—was easily re-elected in 1924.

But the 1926 off-year election put a coalition of Democrats and progressive Republicans in control of the senate, just as a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats will now control under Truman. And in 1928 Coolidge decided that he did not "choose to run."

Wonder if President Truman, whose career has been strangely similar to Coolidge's, will choose likewise? Mrs. Truman very much wants him to.

Note—After Coolidge bowed out, the Republicans, under Herbert Hoover, were overwhelmingly elected in 1928 in the Al Smith campaign, only to lose office in 1932 and for 20 long years thereafter.

Merry-Go-Round

Though the secret service has increased the President's bodyguard since the assassination attempt, Mr. Truman is as carefree as ever. "When the Good Lord wants me, he'll take me," he tells his guards.

A hymn is already developing for Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico for vice-president in 1952. Senator Taft's campaign was so well financed that he had $15,000 to spare for the senate race of Lieut. Gov. Joe Hanley in New York. The man who is charged with keeping the Democrats in control of the senate for the next two years is really Dr. George Calver, the Capital physician. If one Democrat senator dies in a GOP state it would tie the senate; if two die the Republicans would control. Dr. Calver's chief health advice to aged Democrat senators is: "Keep out of filibusters. It's too hard on the heart."

Capital Chaff

The Alderson Stenographic-Reporting Service, suspected of handing a secret senate transcript from the Kefauver crime committee to a Chicago Sun-Times reporter by mistake, is in for investigation. This is the same company which also transcribes top-secret atomic-energy hearings. Some Truman advisers are convinced that the way to prepare for Truman's reelection bid in 1952 is a vigorous new program of liberal legislation.

GIVES MILLION . . . Mr. Shal hospital, New York City, was a million dollars richer recently as result of a gift from Frank Z. Atran, textile magnate, who came here in 1918, a refugee from the Bolsheviks after World War I.

SUPER DELUXE FOXHOLE

This foxhole was the temporary home of P.F.C. William E. Morton, Nashville, as U.S. marines battled their way toward Chosin reservoir, important source of power for North Korean electric plants.

TO SEE REDS . . . James Flimsoll, Australia, is first member of U.N. commission for Korean rehabilitation to leave for Korea to discuss frontier issues with the Chinese Communists. Peace or war hung on these discussions with the U.N. troops poised on the Manchurian border.

PATHOS . . . Alexander Ross caresses his wife while he is given treatment at the Georgia street receiving hospital in Los Angeles. Ross was wounded when he was caught in crossfire between police and a robbery suspect, who was also wounded.

FLORIDA'S MOST BEAUTIFUL . . . Doris Moncrief, University of Florida co-ed, was one of 12 finalists vying for title, "Miss Esquire Calendar Girl." Miss Moncrief, from Stark, Fla., is 20 years old.

LET A SOLDIER DECIDE

THE AMERICAN FIGHTING MAN has demonstrated in two world wars that he can and will fight through to victory. He has done so again in the war in Korea. He provides the brawn and brain to defeat the enemy, but what he wins on the battlefield is lost by our politicians at the peace table.

It was our political leader who dictated the unfortunate terms of peace on the lines of humanitarian ideals at Paris following the close of the first World War. General Pershing, who had successfully demanded that American troops not be used only as replacement units to fill the ranks of both the British and French armies but have their own place as an American army and who commanded that army to the day of battlefield victory, was not offered a place at the peace table. He could only sit on the side lines and see the victory for which his soldiers had paid so dearly thrown away by political leaders and the foundation for another world conflict laid.

It is very doubtful that such a thing would have happened if a soldier, with the experience of a successful commander, one who knew the people with whom he was dealing, had had a place at the peace table. There was no one at that table to represent the men who had made victory possible.

The first mistake of World War II was the demand for "unconditional surrender." That was made by a political leader and against the opposition of Churchill. But it made a good political slogan to attract American votes. Other mistakes made by politicians were made at Yalta and at Potsdam, mistakes that a competent military commander would not have made. The bungling of the situation in China would not have left that nation open to the Red hordes, had MacArthur, rather than the politician Acheson, been directing our affairs in the far east, and there would have been no war in Korea.

Now we have the problem of rearming western Europe as a bulwark against Russia, and our politicians are getting nowhere. The nations of western Europe do not understand diplomacy that comes to them garbed in a frock coat, striped pants and a high hat. They would understand and respect General Eisenhower, garbed in the uniform of a successful military commander, and talking the plain, blunt language of a soldier, one who knew the needs of defense.

The politicians, at all levels, have failed to achieve results. Let us have a try with the soldiers as men who know the conditions with which they are dealing and who talk a language that is understood.

Can the executive branch of the government be induced to take it out of the bungling hands of diplomacy, as directed by the state department, and put it up to General Ike to tell the nations of western Europe what they must do to be saved? Coming from a known successful military commander, our demands to those European nations will be understood and respected. If anyone can do so, he will change that French "no" to the matter of a German army under German officers into a "yes." He knows, and they know he knows, the essentials of defense against Russia.

What is true of General Ike and the western European nations is equally true of General MacArthur and the situation of the Far East. He, better than any other individual, knows how to retrieve America's standing and prestige in the Asiatic nations. Neither of the two should be expected to take their instructions, their what to say and how to say it, from the state department.

We want consideration for the interests of the nation, rather than for the political interests of but a segment of the American people.

Possibly the politicians of both parties may have learned from the election results in Ohio that members of organized labor vote as American citizens and do not follow the political dictation of labor bosses when they are enjoying the secrecy of the voting booth. The bosses in both the A. F. of L. and the C.I.O. worked their hardest against Senator Taft; they put forth all they had in an effort to defeat him, and it failed. American workers are first Americans.

James Byrnes, as Democratic governor of South Carolina, is in a position to wage determined opposition to what he has termed statism. He is opposed to socialism in any form. As a Democratic governor, he will have much weight in his own party.

Baseball's Next Year

THIS UNHAPPY BASEBALL CITY (Chicago), once the home of Frank Chance, the peerless leader, and his famous Cubs, is again turning to "next year" without too many golden dreams.

Both the Cubs and White Sox have known their fame—but not lately. Frank Frisch has done all anyone could expect him to with what he has and it's still material shortage for the White Sox that eats them down.

One question asked around here is this—"What will Branch Rickey do for the Pirates?"

In the first place he can't do them any harm, since they are as low as a team can get. Rickey is certain to be a big help by 1952 if not in 1951. He still has more brains than anyone connected with the game, when you look back over his experience. But not even a Rickey can do every thing at once.

It might be remembered also that war clouds and the draft can make a terrific difference in the two 1951 races. Already a number of shining young stars have traded baseball uniforms for khaki—the bat for a gun. This will soon begin to double and redouble. It will work harder on younger teams than older teams.

Looking over the two leagues how can any one expect any of the second division teams to break into the upper four? Yankees, Tigers, Indians and Red Sox will still be the class in the American league next spring. Phillies, Dodgers, Giants and Braves will remain in the first division of the National as far as anyone can tell, except that the Giants have a good chance to win the flag. They had the best team in their league down the stretch.

The loss of Branch Rickey isn't going to help Brooklyn although Fresno Thompson is a capable field hand. But years are needed to get any baseball savvy—and this means years of actual work as the head party.

Notre Dame and Next Year

Chicago is a hot Notre Dame city. This affection goes back to the early years of Knute Rockne. A bad Notre Dame year is a bad football year for many Chicago football fans.

Now they are wondering about Notre Dame and 1951. For one thing Bob Williams will be missing and Bob Williams, the star from Baltimore, was the team's main star in 1949 and 1950. His passing was about 70 or 80 per cent of Notre Dame's attack with the backfield material left. Silks and such don't come along every week.

There are strong rumors around that Notre Dame is getting ready to shed part of her football glory. Scholarships have been reduced quite heavily, we are told.

One point is that Notre Dame is really a magnificent university. Many of her leaders think the educational and cultural side has been overshadowed by football greatness. This, at least, is the idea you hear. From now on Notre Dame will have good football teams, but they won't be so overwhelming.

Notre Dame loses good men after this season and so far apparently no Harms, Connors or Lujacks are on the freshman squad. It is lucky that Notre Dame still has Frank Leahy and his able coaching staff. Leahy did all anyone could do with limited material as full proof that all too often it is still the material that writes most of the winning story.

Notre Dame has an even tougher schedule next year. As we understand it the South Bend platoon takes on S.M.U. and other strong southwestern teams, where football may have its deepest strength. Indiana will be better. So will Michigan State. So will Purdue and Iowa.

The Pittsburgh Mystery

Pittsburgh turns out to be one of the deeper mysteries of baseball—and this mystery will last through 1951. Three years ago a new crop of owners arrived and started scattering coin in every known direction. Having no farm system ready to deliver young stars, the Pirates paid high prices for anything they could get.

But around September 12 of 1948 the Pirates suddenly turned in the direction of bottom.

Izaak Walton of the East Side Did an Arresting Angling Job

By BILLY ROSE

When I was a kid on the East Side a couple of hundred years ago, a sidewalk was a lot more than a strip to walk on; it was something to dream on, tap-dance on, pitch pennies on and scribble philosophical sayings on, of the sort not found in Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations." However, to Gimpy Myers, the leader of our gang, a sidewalk was none of these things—it was primarily something to fish through.

To put a fine point on it, what Gimpy fished through was not the sidewalk itself but the iron gratings over cellar windows and ventilation shafts. And what he fished for, with the aid of a blob of tar dangling at the end of a string, was everything but fish—coins, picture buttons and other bits of treasure which had fallen through.

There were two occupational hazards, however, which used to annoy this Izaak Walton of the asphalt—cops and dogs. Cops, because a subway fisherman attracts crowds, and as a rule, attract pickpockets; dogs, because Gimpy's exposed rear was an invitation for a quick snack, and on several occasions neighborhood mongrels had given it the full and painful treatment.

As he grew older and more ambitious, Gimpy did less and less angling on the lower East Side where the droppins', and therefore the pickins', were slim. Instead, he invaded the lusher territories to the north, and finally settled on the gratings near the Union Square subway where, if the streets were not paved with gold, at least the ventilation shafts yielded a reasonable amount of silver.

THE COP on 14th street in those days was one like Fogarty, a cynical gent who always suspected that while Gimpy was fishing in the subway, an accomplice was fishing in the spectators' pockets. But he was never able to pin anything on the kid, and this irked him so much that he finally threatened to pull him in for obstructing traffic the next time he caught him.

Gimpy took the hint and went back to Delancey Street—that is, until one May morning when the run was doing its stuff and going to school was out of the question. At his suggestion, our gang headed north on the prowl for cigar bands, and on 14th Street we saw a woman get out of a taxi, suddenly clutch at her throat, and then stoop over and peer through a grating near the curb.

"Lost som'n, lady?" Gimpy asked her.

"A locket," said the woman. "It isn't worth much, but it has a picture of baby."

There were neither cops nor canines in sight. "I'll git it fer ya," said Gimpy.

From a Prince Albert tin he took a chunk of tar and held a match under it until it was sticky. Then he lowered it on a string and began to maneuver it over the locket.

AT THAT MOMENT, Officer Fogarty rounded the corner. "This time I'm runnin' ya in," he said. "Playin' hooky and obstructin' traffic at one and the same time."

"I'm only tryin' to git this lady the pitcher of her baby," said Gimpy.

In exactly one minute and 46 seconds, one leader deftly snatched the locket through the grating, pulled it free from the tar and handed it to its owner.

"Thanks," said the woman. "It's the only picture I have of baby."

"Let's get goin'," said Fogarty. Stalling for time, Gimpy said to the woman, "Wouldja mind if I took a look?"

"Not at all," she said, and snapped open the locket. Inside was a picture of a mean-looking pekinese pup.

"That ain't no baby," snarled Gimpy. "It's a lousy dawg."

"Watch your language, young man," said the woman. "Baby's won more blue ribbons than you have fingers and toes."

Gimpy slowly stuffed string and tar back into the empty tin and dropped it down the grating. There he turned to Fogarty.

"Okay, copper," he said. "Do ya duty."

SHORT STORY

Gause For Murder

By Richard H. Wilkinson

ANDREW RANDALL's death was, obviously, suicide. Capt. Van Ness of the homicide squad went down to investigate, though he admitted the investigation was merely in the line of routine duty. I went with him.

"You can't make a murder out of this one," I grumbled. "Come on home. We're wasting each other's time."

"Keep your shirt on, scribe. Let's look around the joint. I've always wanted to see what a millionaire's home looked like."

"You're still wasting time. Randall was just $999,999 short of being a millionaire."

This was true. Once a prominent member of the upper brackets, Andrew Randall's fortune had depleted steadily for the past dozen years. Even the house was mortgaged.

"Who's going to inherit this bunch of debts?" I asked Van.

"As far as I can figure there's only one living relative. A youngster named Barry Roister. A nephew by marriage. He lives in Michigan."

"Ah!" I cried brightly. "A murder prospect! Now what could the motive be?"

Van grinned again.

The drawing room of the old house contained three fairly good oil paintings. There were some silver and a few antique pieces and a car in the garage. Otherwise, young Mr. Barry Roister of Michigan was going to find it hardly worth his while to make the trip to New York to collect his inheritance.

Outside, Van sighed deeply. What a pity! There was a chance for a swell murder case and it turns out to be nothing but an ordinary suicide."

"Lord, it's getting so a man can't honestly kill himself these days without some inquisitive copper trying to dramatize it."

I was sent up to Provincetown and then down to Miami to cover the air races. So it was more than two weeks before I returned to New York. The day after my arrival I dropped in on Van.

He looked brighter and satisfied. "About the Randall murder," he said. "We've got the killer!"

I stared blankly. Then suddenly I remembered. "That wasn't a murder. It was a suicide. What do you mean you've got the killer?"

"Barry Roister from Michigan. Remember? The nephew by marriage. He did it."

"Now look, Van," I said. "Stop talking in bunches. Why would Barry Roister want to kill penniless old Andy Randall?"

"Because of the paintings. You remember those three paintings we saw in the drawing room?"

"I remember that they weren't anything to kill an old man over."

"Ha!" said Van. "You newspapermen! Never get behind the news. Too superficial. I suppose you never heard of Caleb Trask?"

"No, I never heard of Caleb Trask."

"Well, he's an artist. Pretty good too. He painted these. They sold for about $50 each. Then Caleb died. So what always happens when a fair old artist dies? The price of his paintings hits the sky. So Caleb Trask lived in Michigan and

I stared blankly. "That wasn't a murder. It was a suicide. What do you mean you've got the killer?"

Roister, being an art connoisseur and knowing that his distant uncle owned the paintings, began to think.

"Ah!"

"Ah! is right. To Roister it looked like a set-up. Uncle Andy had every reason to commit suicide and who would ever suspect a distant nephew living in Michigan who would only inherit a bunch of debts?"

"So Roister made a quick and murderous trip to Uncle Andy's and then returned to Michigan. And when he was advised he had inherited a lot of debts he came back and gave his uncle a decent burial and took the paintings and left everything else for the debts. And a week and a half later I read in the papers where the Trask oils had sold for $50,000 each."

Van sighed and grinned. "What a pity you newspapermen don't try to get behind the news."

"What a pity," I snapped, "that you had to read in the newspapers about the paintings being sold."

The program includes a visit to the world-famed Palomar Observatory, a visit to Boucher Fire Lookout, and a chance for observation of plants and animals of the area. Through electing a five-member camp council, campers help formulate the week's program. Trail, fun, work, inspirational, and creative activities will be included.

School Safety Patrol Honored

John van Gulse, of the Grove Theatre, will be host this Saturday afternoon, to the following members of the Safety Patrol, in recognition of services rendered to both students and motorists at crosswalks in the community: Willard Rigley, Roger Slagill, Charles Eidenfield, Bobby Coy, Gary Utt, Bill Cabral, Laird Hodge, Joe Cota, Keith Hall and Warren Hagen.

School Paper Published

Next week the Lemon Grove School paper, the Grover, will appear as a special Christmas issue. The student publication, to go on sale to all pupils on Dec. 14, is edited by Roger Conlee, eighth grader. Margaret L. Darroch is faculty sponsor. Poems, stories, and sketches on the Christmas theme will be featured.

Pupils Are Shown Zoo Pictures

Mrs. Loy Holmquist's sixth graders were hosts to her sixth grade rooms at Lemon Grove on Wednesday last week when Mrs. Ketchum of the San Diego Zoo Educational Staff visited the school and showed colorful slides to the combined classes. The pictures were of zoo animals, representative of South America. The students are at present working on a unit about South American countries. Mrs. Ketchum told the group many interesting facts about each animal seen on the slides. Reptiles, turtles, tapirs and the spectacle bears were a few of the species shown.

That same day Mrs. Ketchum visited the fourth grades in both the morning and afternoon sessions, entertaining the boys and girls with slides of zoo animal pictures. Special emphasis was placed on those animals inhabiting Mexico, current social studies unit. Greatest interest was shown in the reptile family. Discussion that followed the viewing brought out some little-known facts about the animals. Mrs. Ketchum devotes a great deal of her time to this work throughout the county schools.

Parents Confer With Teachers and Administrators

Parents of children in Mrs. Nancy Tuthill's pre-first class met last Thursday evening, at the Lemon Grove School for discussion of plans for the students. Supt. Byron Netzel, spoke to the group briefly on building plans, and emphasized the great need for acceptance of the bond issue here. Mr. Solleder, director of education, greeted all parents and expressed his appreciation of the interest shown by patrons in the school and its program. Because of illness, Mrs. Evelyn Lauritzen, school principal, was unable to attend.

Mrs. Taylor, chairman of the local P.T.A. Room Mothers, graciously officiated as hostess. She was assisted by Mmes. Ducharme, Lashie, Shoemaker and Smith. Mrs. Shoemaker will be room mother for the pre-first group, assisted by Mrs. Smith. Mary Tuthill and Janet Shaffer took care of small children during the meeting.

Those attending included Mmes. Taylor, Tuthill, Ducharme, Seward, Shoemaker, Netzel, Solleder and Mr. and Mrs. Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Grube, and Mr. and Mrs. Smith. The parents are to be thanked for their splendid cooperation.

7-1 Jr. Hi. Group Holds Bake Sale

During the noon period on Tuesday, students of Mrs. Darroch's seventh grade homeroom held a pie and cake sale for the students. Committee members for posters were Grant Ballantine, Miles Fischbeck, and Bobby Herrera; sales committee members were Frances Lovett, Joyce Curtis, Shirley Quit, Margaret Moraville and Peggy Lester. Arvis Reed, class treasurer, reported that the money raised by the sale will be used in the purchase of library supplies and also for the class' Christmas party next week.

First Graders Enjoy Zoo Trip

The first graders of Mrs. Grace Burks' class visited the San Diego zoo in Balboa Park on November 21. This trip was in connection with a class study of zoo animals. After traveling to the park by school bus, they were transferred to a special zoo bus, and under the guidance of Mrs. Ketchum they had an interesting tour of the Zoological Gardens. Assisting Mrs. Burks were Mmes. Walsh, Snodgrass, Bush, and Waggoner.

VISTA LA MESA

Student Council Meets

The Vista La Mesa School Student Council held its regular meeting on Monday last week. By unanimous vote, the council decided to purchase a microscope, which, with the science kit donated by the P.T.A. last Spring, will be of great value in improving the science program. The council also voted to assume the responsibility of securing Christmas trees for each classroom.

The question of a backdrop for the softball diamond was discussed. Mr. Schei explained that a backdrop will be built at the time of construction of the new buildings.

Members present at the meeting were John Koger, vice president; Alan Rovang, secretary; Mary Conlee, treasurer; Everett Oliver, sixth grade room representative; Judith Lehtonen, fifth grade room representative; Russell Westphal, fourth and fifth grade representative; and Mrs. Ben Schei, sponsor.

Mrs. Cornelius' 4th and 5th graders have chosen a class in Athens, Ohio, to be the recipient of letters from them. A teacher from Athens requested.

through the Instructor Magazine, that a California class correspond with her students. The Vista La Mesa class wrote of their class projects and told of outstanding industries and scenic sights of San Diego.

Zoo Project in First Grade

Mrs. Hunt's first grade class went to the San Diego Zoo, on November 21 and toured the gardens by bus. They learned many things about the animals they had previously read about and discussed in class. On Monday, following the Thanksgiving vacation, they decided to construct a zoo in the classroom. The boys and girls made animals, put up fences around them and printed signs. Albert Olsen and Julie Correll brought wagons to school; these were fastened together to form a "zoo bus." On Friday, mothers were invited to visit the children's zoo. The students sang songs about the animals and presented a play about their trip.

As a culmination of a science unit of zoo animals, the afternoon first graders of Mrs. Roberts' class enjoyed a trip to the zoo on Nov. 27. Twenty-nine children along with Mrs. Roberts and two room mothers, Mrs. Shamkey and Mrs. Hapson, made the journey by school bus.

The children especially enjoyed the Bambi deer and the baby giraffe. Since their return they have discussed what they observed, and are planning a miniature zoo at school. In art activities animals and other zoo scenes are being reproduced.

Providing student-help for the local communities, Grossmont Union High School's Job Placement Agency, headed by Wm. Barkell, is responsible for many successful job placements.

Eighteen to 20 students in Grossmont's salesmanship classes under the direction of William Wade, cadet teacher and Mr. Barkell, have been placed at Thrifty's and Penny's in El Cajon during Christmas. Among jobs being filled now are baby-sitting, veterinarian, gardener, car parkers and waitresses.

Students wishing jobs should fill out registration forms for employment. These forms are on file for immediate use, so that requests for help may be filled as soon as possible.

A job counseling service is also available for students wishing this help. Grossmont's purpose is to serve the community by providing an agency where they may obtain employees when needed, and to give Grossmont students job experience. Its services can be secured by contacting Mr. Barkell personally, or calling Grossmont, Homeland 6-4155.

A High School Speech Tournament was held at San Diego State College Friday and Saturday with 14 high schools participating from the entire San Diego area.

PTA Sends Clothes to Korean Needy

The Monterey Heights Parent Teachers Association is now completing the "Clothes for Korea" campaign. With help from Boy Scout Headquarters in San Diego, shipping arrangements have been made. The clothes will go directly to Inchon and be distributed from there. Those helping the chairman, Mrs. Wm. E. Rife, Jr. in collecting, sorting and boxing this clothing were Mrs. John R. Smith, Mrs. Thomas Best, Mrs. Sam Hagen, Mrs. Ed. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Frank Ferguson. Mrs. Harold Randall gave the P. T. A. the use of the basement playroom in her home on Nichols St. to serve as storage and workroom for this project. The generous cooperation of the Monterey Heights families made this clothing drive an outstanding success.

Churches Observe Bible Sunday

Many of the churches of San Diego County will observe Universal Bible Sunday next Sunday. This annual observance, sponsored by the American Bible Society, falls midway between Thanksgiving and Christmas. This is the period during which millions of readers throughout the world join in using a selected daily list of Scripture passages suggested by the Bible Society. For years many church people have been following this annual reading program.

Universal Bible Sunday is recognized as an important observance in the life of the Church and is listed in the calendar of religious celebrations. The theme selected this year is "The Bible—A Light and Guide." An attractive two-color poster painted by the well-known artist, Robert A. Graef, illustrating the theme, will be on display in the churches. Specially prepared church bulletins will be distributed at the services.

2 Miles of Pictures of Christ's Nativity

Each day and evening an increasing number of visitors from all over California go to Escondido to view the 45 painted scenes of Christ's Nativity which are displayed on the lamp posts on Escondido's Grand Avenue. The Christmas paintings extend the entire length of that business thoroughfare for a distance of one mile, on both sides of the street. It is, as some visitors have quaintly said, just like going to a movie of the Bible story, except that the pictures stand still and the visitors move along Grand Avenue in cars or afoot and examine and enjoy the paintings.

The people of Escondido, a community with many strong churches, were determined this year to make their street decorations non-commercial and these beautifully painted scenes of Christ's birth, extending for two miles, were the result. The pictures were painted in oils on panels and the figures are near life size. The colors used were particularly beautiful and there are many exquisite shades and tints known only to the Orient. The paintings were executed under the direction of Mrs. Margaret B. Miller of the Escondido High School Adult Education Art Department by students of her classes. Visiting artists who have seen them have expressed amazement at their excellence and beauty.

The panorama of the Nativity begins at the point where Grand Avenue intersects U. S. 395 Freeway. At the end of the mile and the point where the turn is made is a replica of the stable and manger at Bethlehem. It is believed that no other place in America has such Christmas decoration been attempted on such a scale. The artists worked in improvised studios over a period of about six months and many pictures are the combined effort of two or three or more artists, all under the direction of Mrs. Miller.

Letters have gone from Escondido's Christmas Committee to the pastors of all the churches in counties of Southern California, inviting the church congregations and Sunday schools to view and enjoy Escondido's Christmas pageant. The pictures are numbered and a catalog provided all visitors. Each painting represents some Biblical text and these texts were chosen with the assistance of the ministers of the churches of Escondido. They occur in sequence so that the visitor follows the events which preceded the birth of Christ and those that immediately followed, just as though it were a theatrical performance.

Escondido is receiving national publicity and acclaim from all over the country for its magnificent presentation of the Christmas story. The painting will be removed after Christmas from their places on the posts of Grand Avenue and hung in a studio and made available to the public at certain hours during the months to follow.

Blue Birds in Model Meeting

A model meeting, a puppet show and refreshments are on the program of Sweet Pea Blue Bird group Saturday morning, when they have invited their mothers to attend a meeting at the home of the leader, Mrs. Keller Higbee, 1732 Elroy Drive. Anita Van Wagner, president, will conduct the model meeting. Other officers are Bonnie Holstrom, vice president; Sandra Weimer, secretary; Gail Baumgartner, treasurer; Nancy Jones, social chairman; Marilyn Van Wagner and Susan Hobson, program chairmen, and Lois Dues and Janice Martin, song leaders.

The girls, who are second and third graders, Monterey Heights School, have been making their first puppets and writing the puppet play. Theme of the play was inspired by a recent trip to San Diego Zoo.

AT FEDERATION MEETING

have been undertaken and successfully completed. To my mind, the most outstanding accomplishment and contribution that your Chamber of Commerce has made during the past year is the creation of a spirit of community cooperation among all of our various organizations. This spirit of cooperation and willingness to serve the community has been manifested on a number of occasions in community enterprises such as the Red Cross Drive, Community Chest campaign, school elections, and community celebrations such as the Pow Wow. I am happy to report that all of the organizations of this community have willingly and wholeheartedly responded when requested in any of our community programs.

Lemon Grove during the past five years has had an unprecedented growth which is without parallel in the history of San Diego County. Our community has changed in these few short years from a self-sufficient suburban village to a metropolitan suburban residential district, with the major portion of its population being employed outside of the community. This transition is still in progress and, in my opinion, will continue for several years hence.

Therefore, there is presented to us the challenge of developing a community spirit within this area to match our rapid growth and development. I am sure that with the continuance of the wholesome spirit of cooperation and friendliness which has prevailed in our community this year, we can meet the challenge of the problems ahead and that but now the beloved symbol revealing how our Lord made fellowship possible between man and God.

Lemon Grove will be a community of which we can be justly proud.

The work of building the church is moving rapidly. It is the dream of the congregation that the church will be far enough along that permission may be granted to use it for the Christmas Service.

Pastor Elster says, "Whether this dream will be realized or not, is not certain at this date; but that the church will be finished by or shortly after the first of the year, and be ready for regular services."

Upon completion of the church, the congregation will have a lovely plant; a first unit that will seat 350 people, possess rooms for 9 separate Sunday School classes.

Beside the church is the beautiful parsonage for the pastor and his family.

Until the church is completed, the congregation will continue to worship in the Seventh Day Adventist church on the corner of Main and Burnell.

SHORT STORY

The Good Old Days

By Ono Freeman Lathrop

THE OLD FELLOWS sat on the concrete wall that bordered the court-house lawn. The sun broiled down warm and golden, but the autumn air was cool. The one in the clean striped shirt and blue serge hitched his suspenders higher.

3-Minute Fiction

"Times ain't what they used to be when I was young," he asserted to the man next him. "Prices 'way out of sight, all sorts of machinery to do the farm work, young folks kiltin' around in cars—why, when I was a young buck you took your best girl for a buggy ride behind a pair of fast boys, or you went to Funks' Grove or the Mackinac for a day's picnic and it didn't cost you a cent. Nowadays my grandson wouldn't start out on a date without five or ten dollars in his pocket!"

He looked up the street, tilting his straw sailor back and tucking his blue shirt into his shiny grey striped trousers. "Things move too fast for me. We don't get through one war till we're startin' another one, and them politicians down in Washington are runnin' the country to the dogs. Now when McKinley was in—"

A girl switched by in white shorts and a striped jersey. His sentence hung in mid-air, forgotten. The endless procession of cars whizzed around the square, their tires sizzling on the hot asphalt. The city buses lined up in front of the drug store.

They shook their heads sadly. The first one kept peering out Washington street toward the depot. "Yeah, this is a crazy age! You see new houses springing up over night in the new additions. Look like freight cars sprawled all over the lots—no upstairs, no cellars! Fancy gadgets in the kitchens. Give me the old days and not such a fast pace!"

The other one queried, "What's your name and where do you hail from?"

"Well now, that's a long story," he shifted to the other hip as if to tell it, then grinned. "But nobody's interested in it nowadays, so I never tell it. I'm Clem Mason. Lived here all my life, and hope to die here. I've watched this town grow from a cross-road, and hardly been across the state line. And you?"

"The other fellow's eyes narrowed as if he were seeing faraway places. "Name's Jed Whitcomb. Traveled a bit in my day. Went to Chicago once. Lived out in the country till my wife died last year. I like the town, but nothing seems as good as it used to be. Too much bustle and rush."

There was a long silence while they watched a cab maneuver in and out of traffic. A woman driver and the usual delivery trucks were double-parking and gumming up the works. Horns blasted and women scurried across the crossing.

"Yeah," Clem answered, his eyes still squinting up the street watching for something. "Give me the good old days. A fellow could saunter down to the harness shop or the livery stable to chin a bit and not be in danger of his life. Nowadays I just sit here and don't try to navigate very far. Hate to even ride around with my grandson in the car. Too dang dangerous!" He eyed the corner anxiously.

"You're right," Jed answered. "Nothin' much to do, either. No more chataquas or medicine shows. No camp meetin'."

A swank blue convertible drew up to the curb. A spunky young fellow leaned out and called to Clem. "Hi, Gramps. I've been out to the airport and the station. I got your plane reservations and your pullman tickets. Everything is all set."

Clem got up hastily. He looked at Jed apologetically. "My son in Washington, D. C. has sent for me to come down and see the sights. He's paying all my expenses of I'd never go. Can we drop you off any place?"

Jed rose too. "Nope. I've got my scooter-bike parked around the corner and I'll just put-putt back to my daughter's. There's a good television program comes on pretty soon that I never miss."

The conversation was forgotten for a moment as a girl in white shorts and a striped jersey walked past. Clem and Jed watched her go, their eyes following her as she disappeared into the crowd.

"SING FORTH THE HONOR OF HIS NAME"

Christmas Legends Explain Origins Of Decorations

There are many legends concerning the origin of Christmas trees and why we decorate and cheerish them through the Yule season. And for many of us it would seem like Christmas without a green and graceful fir standing in its place of honor in the living room, decorated with bright lights and stars.

Why the evergreen? The most beautiful legend of all goes like this:

As Christ lay in the manger after his birth, the wise men came to worship bringing their many gifts. Then came the shepherds and the people of the village to kneel and pray in the presence of this wonderful child.

After them came the trees to pay homage to the Christ child. First the native palms from the hills around Bethlehem, and then the stately maples and oaks and birches and hemlocks.

Then, last of all, timid because of his smallness, came a tiny fir from the frozen north. It was so small and modest that it paid no attention to it until suddenly a star dropped from the sky and twinkled on a bough of the tree.

Another and another fell until the little tree was the most beautiful of all—aglow as if from a celestial light.

Holly has become an accepted decoration for Christmas. Reference to it has been made in numerous stories and carols, such as: "Deck the hall with boughs of holly."

"Tis the season to be jolly!" The custom dates back to the time of the ancient Romans who used holly in connection with the celebration of their Saturnalia which occurs about the same time as Christmas.

The holly tree was most beautiful at a time of year when other trees were barren and for that reason was ideal for decorations. And because it was most beautiful at Christmas time, many persons thought the tree must be sacred.

Correct Use of Water Keeps Holiday Greens Looking Fresh, Bright

JUST A LITTLE WATER, correctly used, is the answer to keeping Christmas greens fresh and bright throughout the holiday season.

Since the decorations are usually cut well before Christmas, they dry out rapidly unless given plenty of water. The greens not only look wilted, but form a serious fire hazard.

For many years it has been necessary to use chemicals in water to keep the Christmas tree and other greens fresh and bright. It is known now, however, that water does the trick just as well.

To condition the house for better survival of Christmas greens, the first thing to do is to keep the heat down. High temperatures hasten drying by increasing the water loss from plants. Then, keep a pan or two of water on the radiator or heating stove to add moisture to the air.

Water house plants often during the Christmas season. Growing plants transpire a lot of water into the air.

These precautions will increase the humidity in the house and prolong the freshness of evergreen decorations. Taking care of the Christmas tree itself is no more difficult.

Nail a small wooden base (6 inches square) to the bottom of the tree. Stand the tree in a pail of water. Weight the pail with gravel to hold the tree erect.

Keep the standing in water will remain in good condition for as long as 30 days.

Body of St. Nicholas Curied at Bari, Italy

The body of Santa Claus—otherwise St. Nicholas, the untimely bishop of Myra in Asia Minor, is buried at Bari, Italy.

The body was stolen from its original tomb in Myra by Italian sailors in 1607 and taken to Bari. Europeans in those days thought that a saint's body brought prosperity and good luck to the town where it was buried. For that reason it was stolen from Myra.

FOR THE KIDS

Toys for Christmas Feature 'Atomic' Sets, Reflect Sciences, Arts

Toys for Christmas 1950 will reproduce in detailed miniature every phase of peace-loving America's arts, industries and sciences.

Although some toys are keyed to juvenile interest in atomic energy, jet propulsion and miniatures of U. S. army and navy equipment, playthings designed to determine aptitudes and build careers in homemaking, architecture, fashion designs, transportation, agriculture and chemistry dominate the new toy showings.

Cowboys will lead the toy gun and holster production; although the war headlines have inspired an increase in play uniforms and nurse costume sales.

Santa's toy pack will equal the record $300,000,000 (manufacturers' value) of the past three years with greatly improved quality, assuring parents peak play value for their money. Assuredly Santas are advised to shop early for specially wanted items, as widespread shortages are expected in many popular lines because there are more than 45,000,000 children of toy age—40 per cent increase over pre-war years, and manufacturers face shortages of many basic materials.

This estimate on 1950 prospects was given by Arthur M. Raphael, president of the Toy Manufacturers of the U. S. A.

"Toy volume in 1950 is expected to equal the record sales of the past three years which have been around $300,000,000 manufacturers' value," said Mr. Raphael. "Capitalism's value) of the past three years with greatly improved quality, assuring parents peak play value for their money. ### AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

ELECTRICITY PROJECTS STARTED BY 4-HERS HERE

Thursday, November 30, marked the beginning of 4-H electrical projects in San Diego County. The new project includes training in electrical safety, wiring, splicing, lighting, heating, and making an electric motor.

Thirty local 4-H leaders from San Diego and Imperial counties and industry leaders met at the San Diego County Farm Advisor's Office last Thursday.

Dan Turner of the San Diego Gas and Electric Co., is in charge of the technical training of the 4-H leaders in this project. Dan Close, farm advisor, will supervise the organization of 4-H Clubs and leaders.

The Pacific Coast Electrical Association and the California Agricultural Extension Service were hosts for the meeting.

THERE'S A WREATH IN YOUR CLOSET

A wire clothes hanger can double as the frame for a home-made Christmas wreath, fashioned from fir, cedar, pine, redwood, laurel, boxwood, holly or other suitable greens. Home Advisor Bena Johnson, of the University of California Agriculture Extension Service, suggests making them by the following easy method.

Shape the hanger until it is round, leaving the hook on top for hanging the finished wreath. Prepare strips of evergreen six inches long to cover the frame. Use a spool made of wire wound around a twig, dark colored twine to tie on the greenery.

Start at the hook by wiring on little bunches of green. Keep the stems all running in one direction. Unwind just enough wire each time to fasten on one bunch of greens.

If the wreath will hang where both sides are visible, place the greens on alternate side, first on the front, then on the back.

Work in pine cones or sprigs of holly for added interest and decorate with a big red bow.

NATIONAL TURKEY GROWERS CONVENTION

"The greatest and most complete turkey event in history" - is the only way to accurately describe the National Turkey Federation Convention, to be held in Long Beach January 9 to 11, 1951.

In addition to the convention activities, there will be the combined Far West Turkey Show and National Dressed Turkey Show; and the opportunity to go on the Vacation Special Train and visit leading California producers, hatcherymen and processors. This is truly a Vacation Special Convention.

According to Warren D. Johnson, president of the NTF, plans are completed and everything is ready for this great convention.

The idea of a winter convention in Southern California has caught the fancy of thousands of turkey people. It is anticipated the crowd will exceed the registration of 4052 at last year's convention in Minneapolis.

The Long Beach Convention Bureau has made plans to handle any number of people. Nearly 2000 rooms have been reserved in Long Beach's fine vacation hotels and motels. In addition, there are many tourist rooms in Long Beach. In addition, there are many hotels in nearby Santa Monica, and other cities. Those who plan to attend the Convention are urged to make their hotel reservations as early as possible.

Many new exhibitors have reserved space in the Commercial Exposition and Breeder Mart. In addition to the long list of nationally known commercial firms, many California and other Western companies have reserved space.

MORE INCOME—HIGHER COSTS

Most farmers will receive higher incomes in 1951 than this year, but production goods family living and taxes will cost them more. Agricultural production will total the largest in history, weather permitting, says Robert C. Rock, Extension Economist, University of California Agricultural Extension Service, in a statement to Farm Advisor E. C. Moore.

Much of the expected boost in farm output will come from meat animals and cotton. Cattle and hog marketings are expected to increase and the cotton crop is likely to be larger than this year's small output. Smaller increases are expected for other farm commodities.

With prices and production both up, net income realized by operators may rise about 15 percent, but probably not to the levels of 1947 or 1948. Rising prices will hold the purchasing power of farm income below those two years.

Behind this prospect are continued high rate of business and industrial activity, record level of employment and consumer income, likely increase in foreign demand for many U. S. products.

AVOCADOS AND COLD TEMPERATURES

What avocado growers can do to combat the hazards of freezing temperatures is to be the topic for discussion at the next meeting of the Farm Bureau Avocado Department.

The meeting is scheduled for Monday night, December 11, at 7:30 p. m. in the Escondido High School Library.

In announcing this subject, Chairman Robert Sharp, of Vista, would urge growers to come prepared to participate in the discussion.

Sharp feels that during the past several winters many growers have had experience with methods of protection and equipment that should be passed on to others. All avocado producers are invited to attend.

The four cornerstones of character on which the structure of this nation was built are: Initiative, Imagination, Individuality and Independence.—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

Some Prices 50 Years Ago

From the files of the San Angelo Standard, November 10, 1900.

The sale of the John C. Perry ranch and stock cattle, reported last week, has been finally closed. Wash Tankerley, Kit Sterrett, Albert Kincaid and Joe Thorpe, of Irion County, accompanied the Bar S herd to San Angelo.

It is estimated the past three weeks Hazzard Bros., of San Angelo, purchased $50,000 worth of cattle in this section.

Joseph Funk & Bro. have sold to Hazzard Bros. 350 long steer yearlings, at $17, and to Willis Lawhorn and Knox Barfield 150 fat cows at $17.

The Bar S cattle sold to J. B. Wilson, of Dallas, were shipped from San Angelo to East Texas feed lots yesterday in charge of Captain Nussbaumer of Dallas.

The 9 Ranch, through its manager, J. W. Montague, sold to Dr. Crawford of Honey Grove, Fannin County, 1,000 three and four-year steers at $28.50; 44 old bulls at $23, and 70 fat cows at $20. These cattle were shipped from San Angelo Wednesday to Honey Grove, there to be placed on feed.

San Angelo cotton receipts for this season are nearing the 1,500-bale point and the rate of receipts seems to be gradually increasing. Yesterday Manager J. W. Rawls of the San Angelo cattle yards weighed 35 bales by 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Hector McKenzie has returned from the Panhandle country, where he purchased 6,000 head of sheep at p. 1. They are now on the road to this section for pasture.

Bob Campbell's two cars fat cows shipped to St. Louis averaged 720 pounds and sold for $2.90; one car bulls, 1,044 pounds, sold for $2.69.
